EPWORTH LEAGUE.

New Feature of Church Work Introduced.

MEETING OF PASTORS' WIVES

Dr. Withrow's Lecture on "The Catechism of Rome"—The Entertainment Last Evening—Today's Programme.

A special feature of yesterday morning's exercises of the Epworth League at Long Beach was the conference of pastors' wives held in the tabernacle parlors. Mrs. Thomas Staker presided. This is a new feature of church work on this coast, and it was decided to hold regular meetings throughout the year to discuss topics of interest in their work.

The 11 o'clock service was introduced with a bass solo by Frank Hart of the "Oaklands."

Dr. Driver did not arrive in time to take his place on the programme, so Dr. W. H. Withrow of Toronto was substituted. The speaker's subject was "The Catechism of Rome." The doctor has explored these subterranean sepulchres, and has brought home with him many paintings and drawings which he uses to illustrate his address. He speaks of the catechism as "a place of horror; their very sun-splashed face and soul with dread, and yet here was the home of that Christian host before which vanished the mist of paganism as the mists of morning fade before the coming light of day."

There are in all forty-two catechisms, whose entire length is 387 miles, not 900, as has been asserted. It is a journey to reach from Rome's fires to Alpine snows.

The early Christians rebelled against the Roman custom of burning their dead, and so began the construction of these vaults. The entrance was generally a low-browed aperture by the street, sometimes covered with a church or chapel. They were built of brick or cut in the rock, and opened upon a low stairway either of rock or brick that led to the corridor below. And along these narrow passages the graves excavated from the sides, generally four or five on either side, one above the other between the floor and the ceiling. The graves were sealed with lead or stone, and these seals bore the name of the occupant, and some symbol of his character or business. The doctor says that in these vaults, the great preponderance of whom are children, showing how many are the blighted buds for the full-grown fruit.

On either of the upper corridors at frequent intervals are rooms or chambers which the persecuted used as places of worship or retreat in time of persecution. The sides were utilized as family vaults, and some of these chambers are beautifully painted or frescoed. A picture of one of them was shown, representing it in a restored condition. It was painted in red, blue and yellow, and the floor was paved in alternate black and white stripes of marble, the ceiling arched and supported by iron columns. The speaker says it is not true that the early Christians buried the dead in the vaults, but quite the reverse. The majority of them were buried in the vaults, and the early Christians were taught by pictures the whole story of the Word from Adam to the time of Christ. In truth the walls of these chambers are an illuminated Bible, by which the pagans were led to a knowledge of the Savior.

Last evening's exercises were under the direction of Prof. Henry Ludlum, president of the Ludlum School of Oratory.

The following is the program as rendered: Chorus—Prof. G. M. Cole, leader.

Spn. Lecture: "Italian Cities and Scenes"—Rev. Manly Benson, D. D., Toronto, Canada.

A Card from Hon. Stephen M. White, Los Angeles, July 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In issue of yesterday, I noticed an Associated Press dispatch from San Diego, stating among other absurdities, that the attorneys representing the Italia advised Capt. Manzanera and Tejada to pay the $400 fine said to have been imposed by the Treasury Department, and get out of San Diego harbor as quickly as steam could carry the vessel, and before March 1st could escape her. Messrs. Page and Ellis of San Francisco are the principal counsel representing the Italia's interests in California, and they have had no opportunity to make any suggestions. The only attorneys in this part of the State acting in the interest of the owners of the Italia, are George J. Dennis, Esq. and myself. The statement of the press regarding the fine referred to is utterly without foundation, and must have come from the same parties who estimated the Italia's armament at 77 per cent. out of the way. No such advice was given, and no such flight was contemplated. The idiotic character of the telegram becomes manifest when we reflect that the Charleston was lying alongside of the Italia, and had the ability to dispose of the entire ship at a moment's notice. Moreover, anyone but the author of the dispatch would have had sense enough to know that the Italia's experience had demonstrated the futility of any flight. Even if the steamer could escape from the Charleston, it could not well avoid the American squadron now in the neighborhood of Iquique. The only advice given by the attorneys of the Italia has been to meet the case in the courts. They hope, and they think, with reason, that the sensational stories concerning the Italia will terminate as have those which were circulated with reference to the Robert and Minnie.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Unusually Large Attendance Yesterday—State Donations.

The attendance yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce was unusually large. A great many have just arrived from the East, some for the first time visiting the chamber—and were as usual greatly astonished at the display of products and the accounts of the mammoth yield of the land in this section; others who had been here before remarked that they had to return—could not stay away; they were here now to invest in a home, and hoped soon to make donations of their products to show the future visitors from their section of the country. One visitor remarked that he had just worked up a sample of tobacco raised in that country, and that it surpassed anything they had ever used. Here is a chance for a new industry; let some one try it.

The donations received yesterday were: Peppers, cucumbers and apricots from H. K. Chown, Calhoun; table beets, sixty dozen from the seed, raised by Miss Ruth Harrison, a young woman 11 years of age, East Los Angeles, who says she always wanted to raise something for the Chamber of Commerce and this is her first successful attempt; potatoes, from G. K. Wilson, William Hawley and the Wilson ranch, Big Rock district, Astoria, Ore.; a large quantity of Grum, from the same district; apricots and flowers, from Mrs. Corneil, city; shells, curios and ferns, Mrs. John Brinkner, Santa Monica.

A shipment of big corn was sent to Maj. Truman at Chicago yesterday.

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and board of directors will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

Inquiries for information are pouring into the chamber, and a number are now on file with the secretary.

HIT IN THE EYE.

A Man Assaulted and Almost Maimed for Life.

A complaint was filed in the Township Court yesterday by J. V. Hart of the Esplanade ranch, praying for the arrest of William Kryster, charged with the assault on Hart, who exhibited a badly injured eye while relating his story at the District Attorney's office, alleged that some time ago, he, acting as agent for Attorney W. H. Shinn of this city, leased 100 acres of land adjoining his ranch in the San Fernando Valley to Kryster, with the understanding that Kryster should retain the land and was to have a certain percentage of the hay taken from it, after it had been bled. About ten days ago as he was driving into the ranch with a quantity of hay in small cocks, and on reaching Kryster's house he asked the latter when he was going to bale the hay. Kryster replied that he didn't intend to bale it, but was going to leave it in the cock until it was dry, when he would stack it. Hart then drove into town and reported to his principal, and on the 3d inst. again called upon Kryster to find out about baling the hay. As he was sitting in his buggy in front of the tenant's entry, Kryster and his son came out, and the elder man at once made a remark to the effect that Hart had better not meddle with his hay, and that he did not care for him. Hart replied in a short manner and several person remarks were exchanged, when Kryster struck his visitor in the face with his fist, and Hart, who was holding his hand, almost knocking that delicate member out, Hart was blinded and suffered intense pain, but managed to reach his home without further injury. He was unable to leave the house until yesterday, and his face is badly disfigured even yet.

SOUTHERN METHODISTS.

Second Day of the Los Angeles District Conference.

The second day of the Los Angeles District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was full of interest. Bishop Haygood, in the chair, looked closely after all the interests of the church and gave the laborers many wise words of warning, exhortation and commendation.

The pastor of various churches reported the condition of their churches, showing marked progress along all lines.

At 11 o'clock Bishop Haygood preached a powerful sermon on missions.

At noon the ladies of the church served a luncheon in the lecture room, which was well patronized.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the conference met in the First Baptist Church at 2 o'clock, and an address was well attended and enthusiastic.

At 7 o'clock an informal reception was tendered Bishop Haygood and family, which was largely attended.

After the reception an earnest sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Weems of Ventura.

The conference will meet again this morning at 9 o'clock and the Bishop will preach as usual at 11 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited.

THE BOOKS STILL OPEN.

A Few More Days in which to Get Elaineor Irrigation Stock.

Mr. Gervase Parrell, the eminent civil engineer who has charge of the Lake Elsinore Irrigation Company, in reply to a question from a Times reporter yesterday said to the project said, "I have been so busy of late that I have not kept up with the details of this project; however, I have just learned from Mr. Landt, the general manager, that I will have to be sending men down that way almost immediately, as Mr. Collin, the San Diego contractor, wants the company to deliver him water at once as he wants to plant alfalfa, orchards, etc., this fall. You know he owns 3000 acres just to the south of Lake Elsinore."

"As to the stock, that has been in great demand. The books were to have closed on Monday, but the general manager, told me that there are a number of investors who want to get the stock while it is only $10 a share, and who have asked him to close the books be postponed, as they have not quite completed their arrangements, and wish to make further investigations. So he decided it would only be fair to extend the time. We want people to investigate, for the more they look into the project the better they will like it, for it will bear thorough investigation. So the books will remain open for some days yet."

AN UNLUCKY DIAMOND.

Eventful History of a Gem That Brings Misfortune to its Owners.

"One day he held in his hand the treasure of a kingdom." This was the prophecy of a wise woman of Africa when Miguel Peraz was born at Cape Town, under the star Mercury, in January, 1833. Miguel grew up indolent and quarrelsome. The prophecy rang continually in his ears, and he felt no inclination to work. He killed a man and fled to the diamond fields. One day he tripped and fell over the root of a tree. A small stone hurt his hand. He picked it up and saw a large diamond sparkling like fire in the sun. The treasure of a kingdom was in his hand, but at that moment a rifle shot rang through the bushes. Miguel dropped dead, and the stone was dyed with his life's blood.

THE ORANGE DIAMOND.

A Dutch jeweler at Cape Town bought the stone from a man on the verge of delirium tremens. The trembling wretch received $1,000 for it and drank himself to death. The jeweler, who sent the large yellow stone to Amsterdam to be cut, was robbed of the proceeds of the sale. From Amsterdam the jewel found its way into the hands of a London jeweler. At the time of Queen Victoria's jubilee her maids of honor purchased it for $30,000. Victoria heard of the history of the stone and declined to accept it as a present. At her request it was sold for the benefit of a charity hospital.

The stone then came into the possession of a rich American named R. S. Lawrence, whose wife wore it on a necklace. Later, when he got into financial difficulties, and the now famous orange diamond was sold to Edward Bruce, formerly secretary of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Prior to his purchase of the stone Bruce entered into partnership with Charles Seale, a diamond broker of Broadway, New York. Bruce and Mrs. Seale, an attractive lady of thirty, fell in love with each other. About a year ago they went to Europe on the same vessel. The partnership was dissolved and Bruce and Mrs. Seale (who was divorced) were married in England. They returned to America a few months ago by way of Canada. Mrs. Bruce having the orange diamond in her possession. While they were in Montreal the stone was sold to Joseph W. Carroll, a lithographer of Duane street, New York, for $4,000, on condition that Mrs. Bruce should retain three-quarter interest in it. Mrs. Carroll was to dispose of the stone and Mr. Carroll was to divide the proceeds pro rata with Mrs. Bruce, who in the meantime went with her husband to Seattle, Wash.

In a mysterious way the diamond found temporary lodgings with Simpson, the pawnbroker. Then Mr. Carroll took it to Seale, the diamond broker and former husband of Mrs. Bruce, to negotiate a sale. When he called for it some time later the wretched gem was missing, and Seale was arrested for purloining it. A charge was proven groundless, and Mr. J. A. Beall, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Bruce, denounced the arrest of the jeweler as an outrage. Beall had told Seale to retain the diamond until it was claimed by Mrs. Bruce.

While the question of ownership was in contest the diamond was placed in charge of the property clerk of the court. Nothing but misfortune befell the stone, and to follow the possession of the famous gem whose history began in blood, was continued in exciting incidents, marked the destruction of conjugal felicity and bids fair to continue in turmoil and strife. The adventures surrounding the "moonstone" are insignificant compared with the checkered career of the orange diamond.

The Edward Hannegan.

The Edward Hannegan recently killed by Thornton J. Hains in a boat near Fortress Monroe was descended from two noted families in the west, his mother being a daughter of Hon. Thomas H. Nelson, formerly minister to Chili, and his father a son of the once famous "Red" (Edward A.) Hannegan, senator from Indiana and minister to Prussia.

From 1840 to 1850 this gentleman, for whom his unfortunate grandson was named, was a great figure in western politics, being talented and eloquent, but sadly erratic. In 1852, while intoxicated, he killed his brother-in-law, Captain Dupont, and was driven to the asylum in St. Louis, where he remained until he was released by his father, who had redeemed himself as to become again a man of prominence.

The father of the slayer, Colonel Hains, is also a gentleman of high standing, and thus many in official and army circles are plunged in grief by what seems to be a sudden and boyish quarrel. The case will probably be tried in the United States district court at Hampton, and it may be tried in the state court, pursuant to the usual policy of leaving offenses against individuals to such courts whenever practicable.

Close of the Henley Regatta—Some Brilliant Racing.

Spurgeon Weaker and Delirious—Suicide in the Austrian Parliament—Parnell's Adherents in the Dumps.

By Telegram to The Times.

LONDON, July 9.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Emperor of Germany arose early this morning. After taking a canter in Rotten Row, he returned to Buckingham Palace, where, in company with the Empress, he received deputations from the various German social and benevolent societies of London, and the diplomatic corps.

This afternoon the Emperor again visited Rotten Row, attended only by an aid de camp and dressed in the uniform of a Prussian general. He was mounted on one of his own horses brought over from Germany. Later the Prince and Princess of Wales gave a garden party at Marlborough House in honor of the Emperor and Empress, which was a great success. Here their majesties met a number of the British and German aristocracy. The music was furnished by the band of the British Guards and that of the Russian Royal Dragoons, the latter being sent to England on purpose to play at this party. Thousands of people crowded the neighborhood of Marlborough House anxious to catch a glimpse of their German majesties.

The Emperor assisted the Queen to alight from her carriage on her arrival and accompanied her to a seat. After refreshment the Emperor and Empress were shown the grounds. After dinner in Buckingham Palace, the Queen returned to Windsor and the imperial visitors attended a concert in Albert Hall, where "The Golden Legend" was sung. The royalties occupied the Queen's box. The Emperor wore the uniform of a British admiral. The Empress wore a dress of cardinal silk with a dazzling train of diamonds. At the conclusion of the "Kaiser's March" the audience arose and cheered the imperial visitors, who bowed in response.

ROWING IN ENGLAND.

Results of the Henley Regatta—Exciting Contest. LONDON, July 9.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] This was the third and last day of the Henley regatta. The final heat for the grand challenge cup was won by the Leander Boat Club, beating the London Rowing Club, the holders.

The Visitors' challenge cup was won by Trinity Hall (Cambridge), defeating Brazenose College (Oxford). The Royal Chester Club, for the Wyfold challenge cup, beat Kingston. Balliol College (Oxford) won the Ladies' challenge race, beating Eton.

Silver goblets were won by Lord Ampthill and Gus Nicolson, of the Leander Boat Club, after an exciting race with F. Wilkinson and W. A. L. Pether of Oxford. The Thames Rowing Club won the stewards' challenge cup, beating Trinity Hall (Cambridge). The Moulton Boat Club won the Thames challenge cup, defeating the Thames Rowing Club.

THE CARLOW ELECTION.

Parnellites Plainly Defeated at the Result.

DUBLIN, July 9.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Parnellite press is exceedingly downcast over the result of the Carlow election. The Freeman's Journal says that there is now no more chance of getting home rule for Ireland than of getting the moon.

"The electors," the journal adds, "have abandoned their independence for the British party yoke." The Conservative Dublin Express says: "The English will learn from Carlow that the Irish tenants, when not actuated by insane land hunger, are puppets in the hands of Roman Catholic priests, and as unduly to be elected as infants or lunatics."

The National Press, McCarthyite organ, is naturally jubilant and says: "The Carlow men have dealt a death blow to the faction of Parnell, from which there is no longer any peril."

THE DREIBUND.

Labouchere Assails Salisbury's Attitude Toward It.

LONDON, July 9.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In the Commons this evening Labouchere protested against the attitude of Lord Salisbury toward the Dreibund as calculated to irritate France. Ferguson, Under Foreign Secretary, contended that the entente with Italy to maintain the status quo on the Mediterranean should not be mixed up with the Dreibund, to which the government was no party. Labouchere insisted that Salisbury was doing his best to envenom the relations with France. This policy, he said, arose from a feeling that if the republic in France succeeded, republicanism would spread in Europe. ["Hear! hear!"]

Ladies Riding Sideways. (Detroit Free Press.)

The introduction of the style of riding on horseback side-saddle is attributed to Anna of Bohemia, consort of Richard I. She it was, according to the story, who originally showed the women of England how gracefully and conveniently they might ride on horseback sideways. Another historian, enumerating the few fashions of Richard I's reign, observes:

"Like many noble ladies then used high heads, and corsets and robes with long trains, and seats on side-saddles on their horses, by the example of the respectable Queen Anna, daughter of a King of Bohemia, who first introduced the custom into the kingdom; for before women of every rank rode as men."

Stothard in his beautiful illustrative picture of Chaucer's "Canterbury Pilgrims," appears, according to the above quoted authorities to have committed an anachronism in placing the most conspicuous female character of his fine composition sideways on her steed. That the lady ought to have been depicted riding the male fashion might have been inferred, without any historical research on the subject, from the poet's describing her as having on her feet "a pair of spurs sharp."

Cushion Car Wheel. (Philadelphia Press.)

The latest invention to attract the attention and approval of railroad men is the cushion car wheel, which is said to possess many advantages in the way of simplicity, safety and economy, while, at the same time, being almost noiseless. The wheel is composed of two parts, the center and the tire, which between the two is a thick rubber band which acts as a cushion to absorb all vibrations. By a peculiar construction the tire is made so that it may be removed without taking the wheel from the axle. The rubber is so interposed between the center and the tire as not to be liable to injury from a hot box or from the corrosive action of the lubricants.

A test recently made with these wheels showed that after a service of over 20,000 miles the rubber had not deteriorated, while the tire showed a wear of but a thirty-second of an inch, which is said to be less than one-half the usual wear for this distance.

By Telegram to The Times.

NEW YORK, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The Mail and Express says: "Some weeks ago T. Hogan & Sons succeeded in having the English-built steamships Minola and Montauk placed under the American flag. It leaked out, today, that Barker & Co., the English house which assumed charge of the Minola line's financial affairs when that company went under, have made arrangements to run a steamship line direct to San Diego and San Francisco. Barker & Co. are said to be backed by Hogan & Sons, and also by Samuel Holmes. The Minola and Montauk are to run on this line, the capital being furnished, it is said, by the Hogans."

RESULT OF RAINS.

Landslides in Oregon—A Train Partly Wrecked.

ASHLAND (Or.), July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The rains of the last day or two caused a slide on the Southern Pacific near Riddle Station in Cow Creek Canyon, which has delayed the north and southbound trains almost fifteen hours. The southbound overland, due here at 10:30 this morning, was not able to pass the scene of the slide till 9 o'clock this evening.

ROSEBURG, (Or.) July 9.—The locomotive and baggage-car of the southbound train which left here at 9 o'clock this morning, was derailed about two and one-half miles north of Westlake in Cow Creek Canyon. As the train dashed around a curve the engineer was horror-stricken to see the track buried under a slide of earth from the steep bank. He at once put on the brakes and when the locomotive struck it was with a speed greatly reduced and the other cars were not damaged. Engineer Morris' hand was severely bruised.

RESISTED ARREST.

A Yacaville Constable Shoots a Man Who Tried to Escape.

VACAVILLE, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Constable Charles Bradley this afternoon shot and wounded a man named Logan, a new-comer here who is accused of a number of crimes. Bradley attempted to arrest Logan, when the latter tried to attack him and tried to wrest his pistol from his grasp but failed. Logan ran and did not heed the command to halt. The constable fired and the shot struck Logan in the left leg above the ankle and shattered the bone. The doctor says Logan may lose his leg.

A Woman's Rights Case. OLYMPIA, (Wash.), July 9.—The case of Nevada M. A Famous Belle—Burial of a Chinese Mason—Notes.

During the services of Evangelist Lodge, No. 600, of New York, recently, R. W. Bro. John F. Baldwin, the father of the lodge, exhibited the gavel used in the laying of the corner stone of the home and school at Ulrica. It is the property of the Masonic Veterans, and was held by him for two years as presiding officer. The gavel was made from the quarter deck of the Lawrence, a war vessel constructed in 1813 and employed as flag ship by Commodore Perry until sunk by the British in the battle of Lake Erie, which battle was, however, finally won by the Americans. When the wreck was subsequently raised, the gavel was made, and has since been used by many grand masters in laying corner stones on various occasions. R. W. Bro. Baldwin's patriotic address of explanation was greeted with unanimous applause.

The body of Yo Yung Hing, a Chinese Mason of high degree, was buried at Baltimore not long ago according to the peculiar funeral ritual of his people. Fifty carriages containing mourning friends followed the hearse. The procession was led by a band, and a dozen native Chinese musicians played dirges. A horse, saddled and bridled, was in the procession. Slips of blue paper were scattered along the way as an offering of some sort to the spirits of the departed. Chinese Masons took part in the service. Flow, bread, rice, tobacco and other things, including Hing's personal effects, were thrown into the grave before it was closed.

There is a prospect of a new Masonic temple at Winnipeg, Manitoba, and also of one at Ottawa.

At the 110th annual communication of the grand lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the state of New York Grand Master John W. Vrooman presided. There were present delegations from over 700 of the 23 active lodges of the order in the state, representing about 77,000 Master Masons in good standing.

Edwin Booth has been a Mason twenty-one years. The Masonic Veterans of the state of New York made him a member a week or two ago. Jerome Buck was elected most venerable president. Mr. Booth belongs to New York lodge No. 330, which is composed largely of actors. Nat C. Goodwin is another member. He doesn't bother with paying dues quarterly. He pays up once a year to settle his account.

A Masonic aphorism runs fifty years by the late Isaac Phillips, past grand master of New York state, has been presented to Albion lodge, No. 35, by N. T. Phillips, a son of the deceased, who is a member of that lodge. It is a quaint article and entirely different from any now worn. It will be placed among the antiques.

I. O. O. F. Proceedings of the Sovereign Grand Lodge—Brief Items.

The proceedings of the sixty-sixth annual communication of the sovereign grand lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, have recently been issued, covering 1890-1891. There have been 1,685,381 initiations in subordinate lodges, 1,460,331 members and 183,601 widowed families relieved, 145,504 members deceased. The total amount expended in relief was $61,235,391.21, and the total receipts $134,027,933.30. At the last report there were 634,333 members of the order in submission to the sovereign grand lodge.

A curiosity in the shape of three rusted links of a chain, in the middle of one of which are attached two oysters, was found in the Isle of Man sound this morning. It is believed by experts that the chain must have been under water at least twenty-five years. The center link, which the oysters are attached signifies in the ritual of the order Love, and it is certainly a strange coincidence that to this one both bivalves should attach themselves. The finder thinks that Father Neptune is an Odd Fellow and has a lodge established under the waters of the sound. The relic has been presented to the grand lodge of the state of New York.

Thomas H. Dodge, donor of the site for the Odd Fellows' home in Worcester, has conceived the idea of a special feature for the library at that institution when completed. He proposes to have uniform blank books prepared and sent to every lodge in the state for the autographs of the members, the whole, when returned to be bound in as many volumes as may be necessary, and deposited in the library. There are about 40,000 members in the state, and it is estimated that the names of at least three-fourths of the whole number may be thus obtained.

The Chicago Odd Fellow says: Allen G. Lewis, whose bequest of a fund of $1,000,000 for the establishment of a free polytechnic institute in that city, was a member of Excelsior lodge, and during his life was a very active member of the order. He remembered Excelsior lodge also in his will.

ROYAL ARCANUM. A Satisfactory Status of Affairs Reported by the Grand Lodge.

A satisfactory status is reported in the Royal Arcanum. The submitted statistics are from the reports of its officers—Supreme Regent Leigh R. Watts, Supreme Secretary W. O. Robson and Medical Examiner-in-Chief Joel Severens. The membership of the association rose 13.75 per cent. in 1890 as against 1889, and with the increase since the present year began now shows 118,000 names, deducting 925 deaths. The cash rate of the year ending March 1, 1891, showed a slight advance, being $7.77 per thousand, as against $6.65, $8.38 and $8.40 of previous years. It has been highest in Arkansas, 19.2; lowest in Rhode Island, 3.8; in Massachusetts, 8.7. The growth represents an increase of 120 in subordinate councils and one in grand councils, that of Minnesota, Montana, Washington and South Dakota are the latest states to which the Arcanum has extended its organization. There are now 1,570 subordinate councils.

The financial showing is: Total receipts, $89,765; expenditures, $50,533; balance last year, $10,557; present balance, $19,784, re-credits for the Widows' and Orphans' Bene- fit fund, $8,800; expenditures, $3,717,202; excess of benefits paid over those in 1890, $670,776; total benefits paid since organization in 1877, $16,218,638; balance to the credit of the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit fund on Dec. 31, 1890, with every death claim properly proved paid.
